"Circus Maximus" Improvisational Group to Perform at the Marion Art Center

They're funny, they're zany, they're witty and they're coming to the Marion Art Center this week. Who are they? They're three Yale roommate graduates who have reunited to put on what they call an "absolutely silly" improvisational show. They are named "Circus Maximus," for the ancient Roman amphitheater at which charioteers risked death to win glory. They use no scripts, they wear no costumes. What you see is what you get. The audience basically helps them invent scenes, songs and stories. And just like two snow flakes, no two performances are alike. "Expect the unexpected," said one of the performers, Mike Handelman.

"You shouldn't expect the use of verbs," explained James Waterston, of the light, fast-moving performance. Waterston, whose Grandparents lived in Mattapoisett while they were alive, says he's been coming here for every summer of his life. During his most recent visit, he met somebody at a wedding, who suggested he should get in touch with the Marion Art Center Director, Wendy Bidstrup. After Bidstrup asked them to perform, "We shamelessly took her up on it," Waterston said grinning. The three met at Yale and performed improv in the Purple Crayon of Yale University and the Polyannas of New York City. Under these names, the members of Circus Maximus have performed and taught workshops in New York, Los Angeles, Seattle, Boston, Dallas, Washington D.C. and Avignon, France.

"It's been a while since we did improv together," said David Guion. "We started practicing a few weeks ago, and have been working steadily all day," he added. Waterston said it took a little getting used to. When asked what the three enjoy the most about improv, they're quick to respond. "It's different every time. It takes some practicing, it's really a matter of getting used to each other," said Guion. "So much of the performance is energy created by the performers and the audience. It's an exciting show, nobody knows what going to happen next," he added.

Handelman, whose tried a few stints at stand-up comedy, said he enjoys improv much more. "It's different from stand-up. It's really interactive between the audience and the performers," he added.

Waterston agreed. "It's a lot of fun to be a ham on the stage and goof around in front of the audience. There's nothing scripted. We come to the audience, ask for a location, or a title of a scene, based on their suggestion, we'll come up with a story," Waterston explained. "Part of the fun is they get to throw us off (track). We'll ask 'Now, what's going to come out of the closet?'" Some of the answers the audience gives are quite peculiar. It seems the weirder the answer, the more intense the show gets. "All the scenes are created from our imaginations, we're all weird guys," he said.

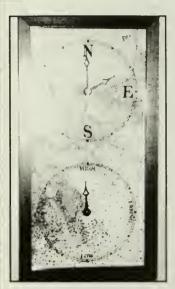

Waterston is no stranger to the stage or the camera. He played the role of Jeremy Pitts in "The Dead Poet's Society." During that time he got a chance to work with some real "big shots" like Robin Williams (who Waterston said is always good for a laugh.) "The whole experience was wonderful," he said. He's also enjoyed working in New York City, doing "a lot of theater." He's also in the process of writing a script and skits. "I'm not sure where it's headed," he said when asked about his future plans. He said he thoroughly enjoys his work. "This is all great. Another thing (I enjoy doing) is the piano. I've been playing at the Mattapoisett Inn on Tuesday night's," he added. He said he'd love to stay acting, and performing improv, writing and playing music. "If somehow we could do a living out of all of this, it would be wonderful," he said.

Pittsburgh, but is originally from Wisconsin, said he's enjoying his stay in Mattapoisett. "It's beautiful," he said. A graduate student of Philosophy, his credit's also include "Love's Labours Lost," "The Tempest," and "Waiting for Godot." (Although he also claims he was that "little boy" in "E.T." He said he just loved working with Drew Barrymore.) "I've done straight acting a little bit, I was urged by friends and critics to stop. I've been sticking to improv for 9-years," he said. Handelman also was awarded first prize in the Irish Playwright Competition for his 1990 play "Home." It's an original story about the integration of a neighborhood in Milwaukee. When asked if the award was prestigious, he said yes. "It's the most prestigious award I've ever won," he said jokingly.

According to a press release, David Guion who "was recently seen on a Japanese Variety Show, diving head long through a brass ring no larger than a grapefruit," had a little confession to make. "I'll let you in on a little secret, it never happened," he said. Although he is a self-proclaimed contortionist (he can do the old removing half of finger trick by covering up your thumb) he started performing improv in college and has done some acting as well. David Guion is also visiting Mattapoisett for the first time. Guion's credits include "Henry V," "Othello," and "Twilight of the Golds." When asked what his future plans are he said he wasn't sure yet. "I would be happy to be able to make money acting or at improv. I'd even be willing to compromise my

"The three of us are pleased with the work we are doing with each other," Guion said.

"The only trouble is trying not to crack up on stage," Waterston said.

Mattapoisett Selectmen's Meeting August 8, 1995

A regular meeting of the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, August 8 at 7:00 pm by Selectmen John N. DeCosta. Also present were Selectman Daniel O. Mahoney and Executive Secretary Carol J. Adams. Chairman Paul E. Lambalot was delayed a few minutes.

Selectmen approved the minutes of the Board of Selectmen's meeting held on August 1, 1995. Selectmen received a copy of a letter mailed to Warren Monk, Secretary of Fin, Fur & Feather Club concerning stray bullets found on the property in the neighborhood of the club.

The letter was written by Robert G. Moore, Attorney at Law. It reads, "I'm writing on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Faulkner of 63 Crystal Spring Road, Mattapoisett. They and their neighbors are very concerned about the bullets found on their property and in the neighborhood. They believe that these have come from the range located on your property. (The last bullet found by Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner was imbedded in the side of their house at the second story level). The "grouping" of the bullets found down the range appears to be consistent with this belief. Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner have advised me that your club is also concerned and has tried to rectify the problem in the past. We'd like to have an immediate meeting with the representatives of your club to address how to correct this problem. I don't know whether turning the range is a possible remedy or not. We will be happy to share any of our information with you. We will meet with any representatives of your club and/or walk the area where the bullets were found with them. Whereas the problem involves public safety and the possibility of personal injury we are asking you to voluntarily shut down the range until the matter is corrected." Ms. Adams said "They are concerned and wanted you to be award of it."

Ms. Adams also informed Selectmen they received three bids to repave Mr. Gomes driveway. His driveway had to be dug up so his well in the basement could be switched over to municipal water because of the underground gas leak at the Mattapoisett Police Station. Ms. Adams said Mr. William Nicholson, Water Resource Management Official, was waiting for the Board's approval to go with the lowest bidder. The bids were $2,450, $1,850 and $1,650. Selectmen Mahoney made a motion to approve the lowest bidder for their services and paving of Mr. Gome's property.

Selectman Mahoney asked Selectman
DeCosta if he had any notion on the plans for Route
6. "The work seems to have died down," he commented. Ms. Adams said they've been working right along. Selectman DeCosta said he has received much inquiry about the project. "I've explained it's a state run project. It's up to the contractor to do the work," Selectman DeCosta said. "You're content, there's nothing we can do?" asked Selectman Mahoney. Selectman DeCosta said he didn't know what they could do about it. "I'm sure they'll be back to work on the rest of the road," he commented.

Mr. Hamilton came before the board to inform them Mr. and Mrs. Lovell, who live on Woodlawn Avenue in Mattapoisett celebrated their government." The board plans to consult Marion's other elected committees and boards.

Notices of funding availability for rehabilitation, with a maximum of $500,000, and neighborhood restoration, with a maximum of $700,000, were received from the Executive Office of Communities and Development (EOCD).

Chairman Winters read the DPW submission which reported on the painting of the crosswalks and curbs and the advancement of the grounds around Silvershell Beach. The band shell is being prepared for the upcoming ceremony in honor of the approximately 75 citizens who are veterans of World War II.

Selectman Dickerson reported that an island is not on the plan for the reconstruction taking place at the intersection of Route 6 with Front Street and Route 105. He suggested that the board should write a letter to the Massachusetts Highway Department. The board agreed and thought to suggest that the chief of police should do the same.

With no other matters to discuss, the meeting was adjourned at 7:20.

Rochester Selectmen's Meeting August 7, 1995

A regular meeting of the Rochester Board of Selectmen was called to order on Monday, August 7 at 7:00 pm by Chairman Michael Murphy. Also present were Selectman Lorraine Roy Hawkes, Selectman David L. Hughes and Administrative Secretary Shirley A. Ferreira.

After approving the minutes from the July 24 meeting, Selectmen met with Susan Kucinski, Chief Dispatcher for the Communications Center, to discuss the new fax machine that was recently installed. She said the machine is now working but wanted to know who pays for the police department's long distance calls since they have their own fax machine to use.

Chairman Murphy read Ms. Kucinski's letter. "The fax machine at the Rochester Communications Center is now in operation. The following departments will have full access to the machine: Communications, Fire, Highway, and Civil Defense. The Police Department will have limited access to it since that department already has a functioning unit. The use of this machine by the police officers will be restricted to exigent circumstances, at which times a fax transmittal must not be delayed. I have sent Police Chief Walter Denham a memo explaining its usage by his department. I would like to discuss with the board the billing and payment of long distance calls made on this unit by the Police Department, keeping in mind that the department has its own machine," wrote Ms. Kucinski.

"Who pays for it (long distance calls)?" she asked them. Selectman Hawkes said it would be difficult to choose who did what calling, considering all the departments that use the fax machine.

Selectman Hughes said the only time the police department could use the fax in the Communications Center was in an emergency. "Walt (Police Chief Walter Denham) said all they had to do was call him (to come unlock the door to his office where the fax machine is located). Fine, he can come unlock it. If he's locking it up, he should be paying for long distance calls. If it's not an emergency, wait until the next day or when Walt comes down. We bought it so other departments could use it," Selectman Hughes said.

"I've said all along, the Police Department's fax machine should be out in the open so the police officers can use it," Selectman Murphy said.

Selectman Hughes made a motion that the Police Department can only use the fax machine at the communications center in case of an emergency and that they were responsible for paying for long distance calls they made. Selectman Murphy seconded his motion; Selectman Hawkes abstained.

Selectman Hughes and Selectman Murphy have asked the Police Chief in the past to move his fax machine out of his office. They said there were times when the police chief was out of town taking management classes and police officers couldn't use it because it was "locked up." Police Chief Denham said the fax was bought for his office and didn't want it for public use. He also said his officers never had a problem with it being locked up. He said the fax was connected to his phone line and he couldn't move it out of his office.

Next, Ms. Kucinski informed the Selectmen she needed information about group events in town. "Often times, especially on weekends, the public calls for information on such activities, and we have no knowledge of it," she wrote in a letter to Selectmen. Selectmen Hughes suggested she contact the organizations in town to let her know when they were holding events. Selectmen then made a motion as requested from Sharon Lane, Program Coordinator for the Southeast Center for Independent Living Inc., to declare September 24-30 as Deaf Awareness Week. Correspondence was also received from the town of Mattapoisett Water and Sewer Department Superintendent, William Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson sent a copy of the town's

"We would like to ask your various boards to give special consideration to land activities that may occur within this Zone II area that could affect the quality of the ground water," Mr. Nicholson wrote in a letter to Selectmen.

The last correspondence they received was about the annual SEMASS run for the environment. It will be held on Saturday, September 30. Each town and city contracted with SEMASS is being asked to choose a runner to represent the community in the designated runner division of the 10K race. Prize money in this division is awarded to the winning communities to benefit an environmental project. First Place is $2,500, second place is $2,000 and third place is $1,000. The winning runners will receive trophies. Past projects have included household hazardous waste collection, recycling, public education campaigns, clean-up activities and conservation programs. In addition to the designated runner event, there will be an open 10K and 5K noncompetitive walk. Over 600 entrants participated in all categories last year. For additional information about the race, please call (508) 291-2190. Selectman are looking for a candidate who would like to participate in the race. If interested, please contact the Town Hall.

Under old business, Selectman Hughes said they will hand over the Post cane, given to the oldest living resident in Rochester, to Mr. Henry Hartley who lives on Pine Street. Selectmen will meet there at 6:00 pm on August 21 to give the 95-year-old man the cane. They welcomed the press to attend as well. Under new business, Selectman Hawkes also informed the board of the 50th Anniversary of World War II commemorative celebration. A celebration

There will also be an 18-piece Big Band that plays music from the Glenn Miller era. bids for replacing the carpet in the Selectmen's Office, and for painting the woodwork and walls. "Let's get that started before winter comes," Selectman Hughes said. The motion passed unanimously. Selectman Hughes also made a motion to send notices to the Police Department and Highway Department informing them to take down signs posted on telephone poles if they happen to see them while driving through town. COM/Electric and New England Telephone informed Selectmen the poles aren't for posting because the nails do harm to the poles as well as to workers. Next, the board voted to allow Mr. Harry Brown to drive the senior van per request of the Council On Aging. Next Selectman Hughes suggested the board meet with the Police Union to discuss a Sergeant's position. "Let's sit down and talk to them to discuss the sergeant's position and pay raise with the union," Hughes said. At the last Town Meeting, residents voted for the pay raise for a sergeant's position, but Selectman Hughes and Selectman Murphy vetoed the position.

Selectmen next met as a Personnel Board to finalize paperwork for the Clerk's position in the Building Inspector's Office. Kelly Hartley was chosen for the 16 hour position. Selectmen also finalized the dispatcher's position at the Communications Center. Patricia Knight will work part-time as a dispatcher, making $8.74 per hour.

The Board reconvened at 7:30 to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Sharon to grant a permit for the Lion's Club Fourth Annual Old Fashion Family Carnival of Fun on August 9th through 12th at Plumb Corner, Route 105 in Rochester. Mr. Sharon also asked permission to tap the hydrant to get water for the vendors. Selectman Hughes said that was fine, but to

FINANCING IS WHAT COUNTS

When you're selling a home, it's not the price that counts as much as the buyer's ability to pay. You can have the best house on the block for sale at a give-away price, but it will never sell to the prospect who loves it but cannot afford it or thinks he can't afford it.

An experienced agency like ours, on the other hand, can be expected to discuss personal matters such as financing with prospects. Prospects will tell our agent freely what they would hold back from you. During such a frank exchange, we have the ability and experience to suggest ways to make buying your home possible for such discouraged clients. At our office, we've saved many sales that both Buyer and Seller thought were impossible.

We can suggest the advantages and drawbacks of 15 as opposed to 30-year mortgages; refer prospects to the bank that's most likely to lend to buyers in their situation; and suggest ways of financing that weren't available a few years ago. It pays to sell through our office.

Call BRUCE today with any of your Real Estate questions or needs, we're here to help!! 758-6738.

both members of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club, have created not only a work of art, but a true friendship. Before their nine month long task, they had been acquaintances. Now they share many interests as well as hours together.

The result of their endeavors is a beautiful bird quilt designed by the late Mary Jane Baker, a Connecticut artist. Every bird in every square is outlined in thousands of tiny stitches, as is the quilting in the border.

Hundreds of visitors saw the quilt on display at Mattapoisett Harbor Days and bought tickets for the drawing to be held on August 20 at the Quilt Show. May the fortunate recipient of their quilt truly appreciate the work of art and gift of love these two gifted ladies have donated for our club raffle. Proceeds of the raffle will support the scholarship ways and means activities of the club. For tickets call 758-9768 or 758-34310.

Congregational Chapel on Main Street in Marion will want to see this architectural gem when the building is open this month every Wednesday and Saturday. The Chapel is home to the Penny Pinchers' Exchange, a consignment shop begun by members of the church in 1976 to raise money to support the mission work of the church and to help maintain church property. Nearly two decades later the Christian Mission and Outreach Committee continues to benefit from the hard work of the mostly volunteer staff at the shop. Customers who frequent the Penny Pinchers' Exchange are helping to support mission projects in the greater New Bedford area and Habitat for Humanity, and other projects at home and abroad. During the month of August, a half-price sale is held to clear the racks of summer merchandise. The shop will reopen on October 4 with all new fall and winter clothing. Circus Maximus Comedy

The Marion Art Center presents a night of comedy featuring Circus Maximus on Friday, August 11 at 8:00 pm. Circus Maximus is an improvisational group named for the ancient Roman amphitheater at which charioteers risked death to win glory. Each Circus Maximus show is entirely improvisational-that is, there are no scripts, no costumes and no props. The players invent scenes, songs and stories based on suggestions from the audience. Each performance is entirely original and unique, and involves a great deal of audience participation. The performers who comprise Circus Maximus on its tour of New England have all been performers in or founding members of two other improv groups: The Polyannas of New York City and the Purple Crayon of Yale University. Under these names, the members of Circus Maximus have performed and taught workshops in New York, Los Angeles, Seattle, Boston, Dallas, Washington, D.C. and Avignon, France. The members of the group performing at the Marion Art Center are James Waterston, Mike Handelman and David Guion. Waterston is "coming home" for a stay in Mattapoisett this summer. His film and stage credits include "Dead Poet's Society," "Little Sweetheart," and "Another Time." He attended Yale and has directed and performed with the New York Malaparte Theater Company. Mike Handelman's credits include "Love's Labours Lost," "The Tempest" and "Waiting for Godot," (in which he played the title role). He attended Yale and was awarded first prize in the Irish Players Playwright Competition for his 1990 play, "Home." David Guion's credits include "Henry V," "Othello" and "Twilight of the Gods." He attended Yale and was recently seen on a Japanese variety show, diving headlong through a brass ring no larger than a grapefruit. Can you believe all this? Reserve now for MAC's August Comedy one night only. Call 748-1266.

Adoptable Animals

Our adult feature story is one with a sad beginning but hopefully with a happy ending. "Miss Kitty" was rescued from an abandoned apartment where she was left for some time to nurse her four kittens with no food or water. She was extremely dehydrated and near death but her kittens were lively and healthy, thanks to Dr. Sharon Murray of the Animal Health Clinic in Bourne where she has been recuperating for several weeks. Miss Kitty has now been spayed, vaccinated and ready for a much deserving second chance. She is a beautful, long-haired calico, who is very sweet and appreciative. All of her kittens have been adopted. If you can complete this saga by adopting her please call Animal Umbrella. In the kitten category we are featuring a pair of males who came from entirely different situations but after being together in a foster home, are just inseparable. They are the same size, age, temperament and both have blue eyes. The only differing factor is their color. One is an orange tiger with white paws and nose and the other one is buff-colored. If there is anyone out there who wants double the love, joy and fun, you would sure have it all with this pair. They are sweet, lovable lap kittens. Other kittens include tigers, gray and white, black and white and calicos. We have males and females, long and short-haired, some with double paws. There are also four orange females, that we don't have to offer very often. There are also several older kittens available between four and six months. A real sweet gray and white female, several tigers with white and orange tiger males are also available. The perfect pet for one who doesn't want to deal with the "joys" of kittenhood. All kittens are vet-checked and vaccinated. In the dog category, we are offering an 8-week old black miniature poodle and of course there are always dogs at the Fairhaven Animal Shelter. Both types of compost bins are on display outside the Board of Health office on the second floor of Town Hall, along with brochures about composting. Both are rodent-resistant, have openings for efficient aerobic composting and can be easily-assembled without tools. They differ primarily in appearance and capacity: the more compact Earth Machine is better suited to small urban lots, while the Brave New Composter can handle larger volumes of yard waste.
